Erin Zinger spent the last 7 weeks in my Kindergarten classroom as part of her ECS 100 class. From the beginning she came into my classroom with a willingness to learn and the ability to help when needed. She knew the majority of the student's names within the first few days that she was here and was always very helpful.

Erin frequently took the initiative to help me with a task I was working on, or to help hand out supplies to students. While the students were working, she would wander to different tables or groups of students to offer assistance. I have a full time IA in my class, and she was able to observe her role, and help out as needed.

Erin worked very well with all students, and was easily able to offer assistance to students who were having difficulty or to offer reminders of what they needed to be doing. During center time, she would engage and interact with students at the activity they chose to participate in.

It was great having Erin in my class. I was able to see her confidence grow, and I can see her being very successful as she moves through her Education classes and classroom practicums.
